The Artwork

Icarus Ascending is the last in a series of 12 sculptures based on the Icarus legend. It is the most abstract of the series and is polished bronze on stone, measuring 4in x 4in x 20in.

The Artist

One of the first directors at Winnipeg's Manitoba Theatre Centre founded by John Hirsch and Tom Hendry, Desmond Scott is a highly respected Actor/Director/ Writer who, among other notable accomplishments, produced the first professional Canadian production of Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot" in 1958. He has also produced many sought after works of art. Icarus Ascending is from a series of sculptures over ten years based on the Icarus legend.

Desmond Scott continues in his varied creative pursuits. He is married to Corinne Langston, a writer/musician/actress. They have a daughter, Amanta, also an artist and the digital creator of this image and a son Dominic (in business but occasionally plays trombone) and reside in Toronto, Canada.
